Artist Biography:

Kate Robinson's passion for art started at a young age and continued to grow over the years. In high school she was inducted into the National Art Honor's Society. Kate would get lost in her art when she was in art classes growing up. During her teen years, she most enjoyed charcoal sketches of still pieces or models.

Even though she started her career as a school teacher and later changed fields to spend over 10 years in Healthcare Sales as a business woman, she never lost her love for art. In fact, art had found her many times throughout her careers. She would use it as her creative outlet and once again get lost in it.

Kate revived her passion in art and became self-taught in abstract painting. Her mediums of choice are acrylic, oil, or mixed media on canvas. She moved from Lynchburg, Virginia to the Wilmington, North Carolina area in 2018 and currently resides there.

She takes a different approach on art creation. Kate creates art with interior design as the finished product goal and focus for her work. So, she works with constantly keeping future customers in mind and more of the business approach to her work. Her goal is to create pieces that will tie together a space with colors or a feeling as the finishing piece for a home or office space. Kate's work will give LIFE to the walls, UNITY to the room, and a FOCAL POINT of conversation and gazing.
